(It's Not Just Advertising)

People find what they're looking for with SEARCH ENGINES.
And what's the BEST WAY to get better search engine ranking?
Content rich, feature stories / posts about you and your business.

That's what we can do for you.
When you work with us,
you're not just getting banner ad placements.

Hi, I'm K. Scott Teeters. I've been writing and creating art for car magazines since 1975. I've written and had published hundreds of articles with illustrations in over a dozen car magazines. I started my first website in 1999, and in 2000 launched my www.IllustratedCorvetteSeries.com site to follow my monthly VETTE Magazine column. Then in August 2009 we blasted off into the blogosphere with www.CorvetteReport.com.

CorvetteReport.com has been a delight because it provides me the freedom to cover a wide variety of topics. While I cover most of the major current events from the Corvette community, what I like best to cover are the people stories, unusual Corvettes, famous Corvette people, Corvette history, and whatever eclectic topics that grab my attention.

Our motto is, "Make it fun, and they will come!"

We're offering something that is unique in website / blogging that gives you MAXIMUM bang for your buck! Content rich, feature stories / posts about your business, LOADED with text and images links back to your sites, PLUS fun features that will inspire readers to pass on your business' story to their Corvette pals. After all, "word of mouth" is still one of the best ways to promote a business. And what a better way of getting people talking about your enterprise than with a really good story!

And unlike articles and ads placed in traditional mediums that very few readers see after a few months, our posts are PERMANENT and SEARCHABLE. We don't take our posts down, EVER. And because every post is packed with links, is keyword rich, has specific SEO (Search Engine Optimization), and is indexed by the worlds most powerful search engine, Google, your article / post will work for you as long as we're still running CorvetteReport.com!

You don't just "advertise" with us, you'll be PARTNERING with us!

Corvette enthusiasts are some of the most creative people on the planet and we'll work with you to highlight you and your business. Do you have project cars? Do you offer unique products or services? Do you sponsor or attend special Corvette events? We will create article / posts to promote your business!

The Motherload of Maco Corvette Photos!

Here's Dan McMichael's STUNNING, totally restored 1970 Motion Maco at the 2011 MCACN Show in Chicago. This car is arguably the finest Maco in existence.

Our Mako Shark Attack Week was a big hit (LOTS of visitors) and got the attention of what may well be two of the biggest Maco Shark fans out there in cyberland. The other day we had a brief note from Robert Egli complimenting one of the Mako Shark posts from our "Mako Shark Attack Week." He wrote, "For more photos of Mako Sharks just check out the gallery above." So I went to the link and WOW! I didn't count the number of pictures Robert has on the page, but I spent at least an hour carefully looking over the collection of images. The cars range from stunning to junkyard specials, which is fairly typical of kit cars. To visit the Maco Gallery, CLICK HERE.

Some Maco kit cars didn't turn out so good.

The site is the work of Robert Egli from Switzerland and Steven M. Kuryla from California. Besides the Maco Gallery, the site has a comprehensive collection of everything related to the construction of a Maco Shark Corvette, from raw fiberglass to finding a donor car. There's also an outline of some interesting future plans for a carbon fiber John Silva Tribute car, plus the construction of 10 new Maco Sharks using C5 Corvette suspension parts and a tube chassis. The site is loaded with build photos of every step of the process. If you've ever wondered how kit cars go together, this will answer many of your questions. Enjoy the Maco Gallery! - Scott
